

Terms and Conditions

Welcome to our website. By accessing or using our services, you agree to the following terms and conditions:

1. Use of Services:

You agree to use our services for lawful purposes only. You are prohibited from violating or attempting to violate any security features of the website.

2. Booking & Communication:

All bookings made through this website are subject to availability and our confirmation. We may contact you via WhatsApp, email, or phone regarding your appointments.

3. Intellectual Property:

All content on this website including text, images, and branding are the property of the website owner and may not be used without permission.

4. Liability:

We are not liable for any damages resulting from your use of this website or our services beyond what is required by law.

5. Modifications:

We reserve the right to modify these terms at any time. Changes will be effective immediately upon posting.

Contact:

If you have any questions about these Terms, please contact us at: your@email.com